Editorial Opinion by Ellis Cuevas

We wish you could have been there!

By ELLIS CUEVAS

It is an eerie feeling to watch medical personnel, police, firemen and volunteers unable to do anything for an injured person due to the lack of one piece of equipment. They can only try to comfort him and wait.

We are talking about an emergency piece of equipment used to remove injured persons from wrecks. It's called "Jaws of Life."

The most recent place in question was US-90 at Washington Street in Bay St. Louis at 2 a.m. Thursday. All the rescue and emergency people there had to wait for 20 or 30 minutes for a rescue squad from Gulfport to arrive with the only "Jaws of Life" on the Coast.

In case you weren't out traveling around at that time, it was very foggy, really dangerous driving and the rescue squad from Gulfport had to drive with care in order to get over here.

Local emergency folk were lucky Gulfport's equipment was available and they didn't have to again wait for almost an hour as they did several weeks ago under similar circumstances.

A drive has been underway several weeks now to raise funds for the purchase of a "Jaws of Life," but so far only $2500 has been raised and that is about half the amount needed to buy one unit.

If you haven't made a contribution, the next time you are at your favorite bank, make a donation to this very important project.

There are those of you who say "They will never need such equipment for me." Well, we hope our emergency people will never need the "Jaws of Life" for any of our residents, but the frequent and desperate need for this equipment in the county in just the past several months is an alarming indication of the importance of having this equipment on hand just in case.

Anyone of us could be involved in such an accident anytime we set foot in an automobile.

How would you feel if you were trapped in a wrecked auto and the emergency people were unable to reach you or get you out for the lack of a piece of equipment which only cost about $5,000.

Rescue officials report they are terrified at the prospect of encountering an accident victim trapped in the crumpled wreckage of a vehicle who is suffering relatively minor injuries, but who is bleeding profusely from a cut near veins or arteries.

"We could lose that person just because we couldn't reach him for want of a Jaws of Life, equipment which has to be considered inexpensive under such circumstances," one fire chief told us.

Did you know a police car costs more than that, a fire truck is six or eight times more, a sanitation truck five or six times more?

What about our Board of Supervisors, the City of Bay St. Louis and the City of Waveland? Have they given their share yet?

The most practical thing would be for Hancock County to have a total of three "Jaws of Life" with one headquartered at Bay St. Louis, another in Waveland, and the third at Diamondhead.

Three is the ideal number needed, yet we can't even get enough for one "Jaws of Life."

If you haven't made a contribution as yet, and are in a position to do so, we suggest you realize you are never leaving your home safely in your automobile so long as this County is so severely under-equipped in this area.

We have approximately 20,000 residents in Hancock County—only one dollar from each resident would buy three "Jaws of Life" with a little to spare.

We hope by next publication day enough will be on hand for the purchase of the first "Jaws of Life."

Former Stennis official indicted in drug scheme

By RICH ADAMS

Edd Conn, a principal figure in negotiation of a 10-year fixed base operator contract at Stennis International Airport in Hancock County, was arrested late Wednesday by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner on a bench warrant from Thomas County, Ga. charging possession of marijuana.

According to Sheriff Ladner, he and Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson arrested Conn at his Diamondhead home after receiving the warrant Wednesday. The document was dated October 4 and signed by Thomas County Superior Court Judge George A. Hawkins Jr.

Conn was lodged in the Hancock County jail under a $150,000 bond and was extradited to Georgia Friday.

Conn is wanted in Georgia for alleged involvement in a $3.5 million marijuana transportation scheme in Thomas County in March of this year, according to a spokesman from the Thomas County sheriff's department.

According to the Georgia official, Conn was allegedly involved with three other men already charged in Thomasville, the seat of Thomas County.

The sheriff's office in Georgia said Donald E. Jones, 38, Fort Campbell, Ky.; William S. Simpson, 30, Clarksville, Tenn.; and Richard Brannard of Safety Harbor, Fla., were arrested in connection with the Georgia incident in March.

The three were fined $20,000 each and Simpson and Jones received five-year suspended sentences after turning state's evidence.

Brannard was sentenced to one year in jail and ordered to serve five days in jail every third week. The two who had turned state's evidence additionally were granted immunity from federal prosecution.

Simpson's testimony during a hearing on October 20 to determine the ownership of the Convair aircraft used to transport the marijuana indicated Conn had masterminded the marijuana import.

"Conn approached me and Don Jones to pick up a load of marijuana in Columbia, South America, and fly back to the United States," Simpson testified.

"Gasoline for the plane was paid for on Edd Conn's credit card," Simpson said at the Georgia court hearing on the matter.

Simpson testified that Conn was not

According to Simpson's testimony, Conn's license to operate Edd Conn's Aircraft Sales and Service in Jonesboro, Ark., was revoked in February.

Simpson said Conn flew in another plane beside the Convair over Florida, where the three men in the light aircraft were to throw the bales of marijuana out the plane's doors.

Simpson also told the judge in testimony that Mel Anderson, owner of TransAm Corporation, was involved in aircraft sales with Conn, but did not link Anderson to marijuana transportation.

Officials disclaim cancer test calls

By RICH ADAMS

Several complaints from local residents have been received by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner and the Hancock County Health Department concerning phone calls from a young man identifying himself as a representative of the health center promoting a cancer awareness program.

According to the sheriff, the young man calls people at random saying he is with the health department, telling the unsuspecting listener about a cancer awareness program, and then asking personal, sometimes vulgar questions about the person on the other end of the line.

"The people he calls are young girls, usually divorced or separated, and he calls for one day every six or eight months," said the Sheriff.

"We can't tap phones to try and track the call, because he never calls the

Chamber's directors back county school bond issue

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday night to publicly stand in support of the school bond issue being proposed by the Hancock County School Board.

The bond issue, to be voted on in the November 7 election, calls for a millage increase to construct a new junior-senior high school in the southern part of the county to meet the overcrowded conditions in the district.

"The Chamber feels that the need for a new school facility to meet the ever increasing number of students in the county district is continuing to grow. We also feel that the bond issue is the fastest and most logical way to handle the present situation," said Dick Thomas, chamber president.

Hancock County. He asked those present to attend a meeting on the subject Thursday, November 8, at 7 p.m. at the County Extension Office on Necaise Ave. in Bay St. Louis.

In other business, the board set the date for its annual banquet for December 8 at Diamondhead Country Club with James Lee, president of Gulf Oil Corporation, the guest speaker. Lee is a Hancock County native.

Discussed the Christmas Tree Lighting, which has been set for Dec. 2, with further details to be discussed at the next meeting.

Received notification ballots for new directors will go out to the membership Wednesday, Nov. 1, and a committee will count them Nov. 15.

At the November meeting, the old and new boards will meet and elect new officers for the year.

LOUIS SMOLENSKY

Smolensky announces candidacy

Louis Smolensky, 37, has announced his candidacy for Waveland alderman, Ward Three in the Nov. 7 Democratic Primary.

Married to the former Jane Perry, Smolensky has a seven-month-old daughter, Sara. They reside at 808 St. Joseph St.

"Please exercise your right to vote. This is an important election and I need your support. I will serve you, the people of Ward Three and Waveland, to the best of my ability. Thank you."

Glenda Yennie, Douglas Necaie wed in Bay afternoon ceremonies

Glenda Sharon Yennie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Favre of Waveland, and Douglas Wayne Necaie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor S. Necaie Jr., Rt. 2, Bay St. Louis, were married Saturday afternoon, Oct. 7, at the American Legion Home, Bay St. Louis.

Judge Joseph Dobson performed the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by organist Debbie Asher.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle dress with a white chiffon overlay. Her veil of illusion, edged with lace, fell from a lace headpiece. She carried a bouquet of blue and white miniature carnations and baby's breath interspersed with lace and ribbon.

Brenda Yennie of Waveland attended her sister as maid of honor and Dawn Yennie of Waggaman, La., niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Cindy Necaie, sister of the groom, was flower girl.

They wore floor-length dresses in shades of blue trimmed with white lace. The maids carried bouquets of blue and white miniature carnations and baby's breath and the flower girl carried a basket of blue and white flowers.

The groom was attended by his brother, David Necaie, as best man, and David Fricke, Bay St. Louis, cousin of the groom, was groomsmen. Ushers were Clyde Blyens, Bay St. Louis, uncle of the groom, and Harold Yennie, Waggaman, La., brother of the bride. The bride's nephew, Douglas Yennie, served as ring bearer.

The mother of the bride wore a blue knit dress with black accessories, and Mrs. Necaie wore a blue dress and beige accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

At the reception following, the bride's table, overlaid with a white lace cloth over blue, a four tier wedding cake trimmed with blue spun sugar roses. Candelabra trimmed with fern and blue and white carnations were on either side.

The groom's mother presided at the bride's cake table and Melodie Fricke at the groom's cake table. Candy Domingue kept the bride's register and Elaine D'Alessandro presided at the punch bowl; also assisting at the reception were Patsey Cuevas and Jimmy Garcia.

For her wedding trip to Ocean Springs, the bride chose a blue pantsuit with light blue blouse.

The couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Azaline D'Allesandro and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Jochum and Mrs. Clara Anderson, all of New Orleans, La., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Favre, LaRose, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yennie, Waggaman, La.

Praises Freedom of the Press

Managing Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Sir, my family and I would like to extend our deepest appreciation for the interest and help you and your fine paper extended to us during the past several weeks.

This great country of ours and its people would suffer a terrible loss if ever the Freedom of the Press would some day be abolished.

Because this is one of the remaining few Rights, We the American People have left—as seen by the incidents, my family and I were put through, because we did not believe in the Court ordered shots, in order for our children, to attend school.

When Public officials, whose salaries are funded by the hard working tax payer, start dictating to those same tax payers how to raise their children, and threaten the parents with jail terms as well as to forcibly take the children away, I really can't see any difference between certain officials in Mississippi or those in the Communist dominated countries.

And once again, thank you and the very fine and professional Staff of employees at the Sea Coast Echo for their work.

And remember, the size of a Newspaper doesn't matter, it's the hard line reporting of it's people, to bring out in the open the truth on matters that concern us as a free and God Fearing People.

Thank you.

Respectfully yours,
Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Alley

Trial balloons

The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Sir:

Trial balloons are one method of finding out if the people, that is, the general public, are behind an idea or not. With your permission I would like to launch three. To wit:

1. The formation of the OAC—Organization Against Computers.

This would be composed of people who will refuse to deal with companies who use computers in their billing. The reasoning behind this?

Computers are not human, but are subject to human error, which they, being computers cannot be charged with. Humans can be explained to, reasoned with and made arrangements with but computers continue sending you the bill, refusing you credit, or causing you grief till the year 300,000. We are being slowly eaten alive by a computer society worse than any Mafia that ever existed. It's time to revolt.

2. I.C. (I see)

A committee on a national scale to look into Judge's records. To find which are quick to be soft on the young offenders, give ridiculous fines, and show by their behavior where their backing is.

3. I.C.P. not to be confused with the I.C.

This is an investigative committee on Politicians to look for strange behavior before the date for voting, for bad voting records in previous offices and for sensitive financial connections in their campaign financing.

Yes, I know we have a lot of wasted time from previous investigative committees that merely muddled the water.

But if these committee were chosen from people who had no connection with anything and whose integrity could be vouched for by Priest, Rector or Pastor (as most jurors cannot...) so we could believe, at least at first, that they couldn't be bought, maybe we might find out some strange things...and we might turn back the machine time sweeping toward us.

These are trial balloons. Anybody got a better idea?

never associated with TransAm after Anderson signed the contract to operate the airport.

"As the takeover moved along, the two apparently had a misunderstanding," said Webre.

"He rented office space from Anderson at Stennis, and might have had private dealings with TransAm, but he had no governmental association at Stennis at all," he added.

According to Nathan Hoda, general manager of TransAm Corporation, Conn was never associated with TransAm.

"At first he (Conn) planned to operate the airport, but Mel Anderson is sole owner of TransAm," said Hoda.

"Conn rented an office at the airport, but has not been here for two or three months," contended Hoda.

Sheriff Ladner said he and his deputies spoke to Conn and his wife at Conn's office at Stennis on September 13.

The Thomas County sheriff's department reported the Convals was flying from Columbia to a destination believed to be Jonesboro, Ark., when the pilot of the craft attempted to refuel in Georgia.

An attendant at the Thomasville airport became suspicious when the pilot refused to taxi his plane to a fuel pump or allow the attendant near his craft to refuel.

The attendant reportedly called police and 135 bales of marijuana were discovered in the aircraft, the spokesman said.

Conn is also under a $10,000 bond stemming from charges of criminal mischief of the first degree and criminal conspiracy in Jonesboro, Ark.

According to Craighead County, Ark., Sheriff Floyd Johnson, Conn is charged with arson in a 1976 burning of a Fairchild helicopter.

Johnson reported no disposition has been made of Conn's Craighead County Circuit Court case involving the arson, adding Conn was freed on a $10,000 bond.

Craighead County Circuit Court Clerk Pat Fleetwood said Conn was charged with the September 5, 1976 arson and was charged with criminal conspiracy after an investigation showed more than one person was involved.

According to Ms. Fleetwood, the case is still pending since an October 4, 1977 hearing.

Sheriff Ladner is investigating a possible link between Conn's arrest for the Georgia incident and a July 20 marijuana smuggling in which a DC-4 transported an estimated six tons of marijuana into Stennis Field shortly after TransAm took over operation of the airport.

Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics District Investigator Don Richards said his department has been investigating the July incident for "quite a few months."

Richards refused to comment on whether any new developments indicating a link between Conn and the DC-4 at Stennis had been established.

Mobile, Ala. Drug Enforcement Administration Agent Charles Park said he was unaware of Conn's arrest Wednesday, and added an investigation of a connection between the Hancock County incident and Conn's Georgia arrest will begin if the Alabama DEA is contacted by federal drug officials in Atlanta, Ga.

BASEBALL PARKS—Construction is underway on two baseball parks and a community building on Hwy. 43 in Kiln. "When everything is finished at this 11 acre site in Beat Four the cost should total nearly $80,000," reported Supervisor Sam Perniclaro. The project should be completed by next baseball season, he added. (Staff photo—Leslie Williams) same residence twice. If people receiving the calls wouldn't hang up on the prankster and call us on another line, we could get the telephone company to trace the call," Sheriff Ladner added.

"We have had reports of this problem for three years now, and still haven't a clue to who it is making the calls," Ladner said.

Dr. Louis Jobe, administrator of the Hancock County Health Department, said he is aware of the calls and the Health department has nothing to do with the random crank calls.

"The health department never makes random calls from the telephone book," Dr. Jobe said.

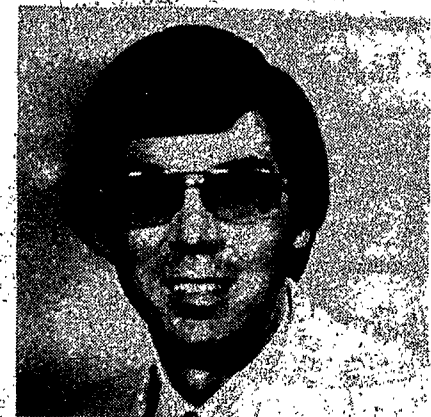

"The only people we would call about a pap smear or cancer test are registered patients of the health department," he continued.

"If we held a clinic on pap smears or breast cancer, we would announce it over the radio and through newspapers. This caller has nothing to do with the health department. The Harrison County Health department has the same problem caller," Jobe added.

Both local law officials and health department officials are baffled as to who the caller is or why he makes the random calls.

The sheriff recommends anybody receiving such a call report it to the telephone company.

Mike Council elected to Chamber Board

MIKE COUNCIL

Waveland insurance agent Mike Council has been elected to the board of directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Council will finish the term of Jean Larroux who resigned for business reasons.

Council, a native of the Gulf Coast, is originally from Long Beach and has been with the State Farm Insurance Company in Waveland since June, 1977.

He is a graduate of the Long Beach High School and the University of Southern Mississippi. Presently, he and his wife, the former Dottie Scruggs, are in the process of purchasing a new home in Bay St. Louis.

"I am honored to have been elected to the Chamber board, and I hope to continue to help the community in this capacity," said Council.

Dick Thomas, president, said, "We are pleased to have Mike Council on the board of directors of the Chamber and feel he will be a real asset, not only to the Chamber, but also in the community."

NORTON HAAS

Rivers group elects Haas to presidency

Bay St. Louis businessman Norton Haas has been named president of the Rivers and Harbors Association of Mississippi.

Haas was chosen for the post at the group's 21st annual meeting Oct. 19-20 at the Sheraton Biloxi.

Other association officers for 1978-1979 include Maurice Dantin of Columbia who remains as chairman of the board; Don Colmer of Jackson, Mississippi Power and Light Co. executive, vice president; Fred Neil, Jackson, treasurer; and Mrs. Edith Sims, Jackson, executive secretary.

Among speakers at the two-day meeting in Biloxi was Col. Charlie H. Blalock, commander of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Mobile District.

Blalock, commander the Corps feels strongly positive about eventual completion of the Bayou Cadet marina project.

The colonel, however, said the proposed water diversion to the East Pearl River from Pearl and West Pearl Rivers may wind up in federal courts as a Louisiana-Mississippi border dispute before action can be taken on the matter.

for one directory and not two."

Donald F. Rose, a Gulfport attorney who was left out of the Yellow Pages and had met with other attorneys similarly omitted, said Wednesday night that he is "very satisfied" with the new plan. "I think South Central Bell...should be commended for their efforts in reaching a very equitable solution" to the problem, he said.

Rose said two week ago that he and some of the other attorneys omitted might file suit against South Central Bell because they wanted a complete new telephone directory instead of just the Yellow Pages.

First weather only show planned on ETV

"A.M. Weather," America's first national daily weather TV program devoted exclusively to covering the weather, premieres Monday, Nov. 6, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

The Mississippi ETV Network will carry the Monday-through-Friday telecasts state-wide at 6:45 a.m. This 6:45 telecast concentrates primarily on weather conditions in the eastern half of the United States.

Designed to assist pilots in flight planning and to help insure flight safety, "A.M. Weather" also will appeal to general audiences. A feature of the broadcasts will be coverage of regional weather patterns.

According to producers, "A.M. Weather" will use the latest weather collection equipment, supplied by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), to present an overview of the nation's weather and a look at the forces shaping developments over the following 24 hours.

Professional NOAA meteorologists have been assigned to handle the on-camera assignments. They are H. Michael Mogil and Richard A. Warren from the National Weather Service and Dale F. Bryan, a satellite meteorologist from the National Environmental Satellite Service.

Producer of the series is the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting, which produced "Aviation Weather," a popular Friday evening program that ran on PBS stations from 1972 to 1976.

BOND ISSUE DISCUSSIONS

Public meetings to discuss pros and cons of the proposed $3.4 million Hancock County School System capital improvements bond issue to be decided by voters Nov. 7 are planned at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 31 in Leetown-Cesar Community Center, 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 31 in Crane Creek-Sellers Community at Old Sellers School; 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 1 in Kilh at Annunciation School gymnasium; 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2 in Dedeaux at Old Dedeaux School; and 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5 at open house with free refreshments at the Hancock North Central High School cafeteria.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Waveland American Legion Post No. 77 is sponsoring a Halloween get-together at the Legion Home on Coleman Avenue Tuesday, Oct. 31 from 7 p.m. 'til. Treats and games are planned for children under 12 who must be accompanied by a parent or adult, according to Bob Barrere and Mo Blanchard, co-chairmen for the event. "Get the kids off the streets and inside the hall for a night of fun at no charge," the Legionnaires exhorted.

GOOD HALLOWEEN ADVICE

Bay St. Louis Chief of Police Douglas Williams recommends parents to accompany their children when out on Halloween night. "It is a fun night for children, but their safety is important and it is for a child's best interests if a parent makes the rounds with his or her children trick-or-treating on Halloween," Williams said Friday.

UNICEF COLLECTION

The annual Hancock County UNICEF collections will be made Tuesday night. Co-chairmen Lisa Thomas and Chuck Benigno invite their friends to meet with them at 6 p.m. at the Main Street Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis for assignments. There will be refreshments after collections. Among the groups participating are The Episcopal Young Churchmen, Methodist Fellowship Youth, First Baptist Young People, OLG Catholic Youth Organization, Bay-Waveland Phi Kappa National Fraternity, Inc., Sigma Gamma Chapter and Youth of Hancock.

Librarian will attend meeting

By Leslie Williams

Bay-County Library Director Prima Wusnack along with some 500 other Mississippi librarians will participate Thursday and Friday in a meeting of the Mississippi Library Association (MLA) at the Coliseum Ramada Inn in Jackson.

MLA's Education Committee plans a workshop on the use, development and training of supportive staff in libraries. Designed to improve the supervisory skills of librarians at all levels, topics will include the value of supportive staff, training programs for personnel effectiveness, and the use of student assistants.

Workshop leaders will include Margaret Barron, president of the Council on Library Technicians; Garnet Chambers, training officer at Internal Revenue Service and Susanna Turner, head of Humanities Reference Department at Mississippi State University.

The meeting will be open to the public.

Expect roaches through winter months, CES warns

With oncoming cool temperatures, the activity of cockroaches, unwanted pests throughout Mississippi, may be slowed.

"However, household species are active throughout the year in heated houses or buildings," warns Dr. J.F. Harris, area pest management specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"Species found in and around homes and buildings in Mississippi are the American, German, brown-banded, Oriental and smokey-brown roaches," he adds.

"These pests are very annoying and can be destructive to food, fabrics, book bindings and other materials," reports Dr. Harris.

"They leave filth and may spread disease germs when running over food. An oily liquid is secreted from their scent glands that is offensive and sickening. This odor may remain on dishes and clothing and ruin food. This nauseating odor comes from excrement in the form of pellets or an ink-like liquid."

Life cycles of all roaches are similar; all species have an egg case containing 10 to 30 eggs per case. The egg case is usually dropped or glued to a surface by the female.

One pair of roaches may produce up to 40,000 young in one year.

Newly hatched nymphs resemble adults, although they do not have wings until the adult stage.

Roaches remain in sheltered places during the day and come out to feed at night.

They may be found in a number of places in homes and buildings, such as around the kitchen sink or drain board; under refrigerators and stoves; in cracks around or underneath cupboards and cabinets or inside them, especially in upper dark corners; behind drawers; around pipes or conduits; where they pass along the wall or go through it; behind windows or door frames; behind loose baseboards or molding strips; on the underside of tables and chairs; in the bathroom; and in radio and TV cabinets.

Roaches move freely in channels of trade. Every time a package is taken home, it could contain a roach or roach egg case, resulting in an infestation.

The three main factors in controlling roaches are: First, identify the pest; second, apply the right chemical control measure properly for good control; and third, practice and maintain sanitation.

Sanitation is a major key in roach control. If good sanitation is maintained, chemical control may not be necessary.

However, if chemical control is necessary, remember that roaches will not stay on a treated surface. Therefore, if the areas they normally occupy are treated, there is a much greater chance of getting the insecticide on the pests.

These areas may be difficult to treat, but roaches will come in contact with the insecticide if it is placed in their resting areas.

Many chemicals used as sprays or baits will control roaches when properly applied.

A spray of one or two percent roach bait (Korlan), two percent malathion, 0.5 percent diazinon, 0.5 percent chlordane (Dursban), or 1.1 percent propoxur (Baygon) will control roaches.

Baygon bait is also effective. Where roaches are not resistant, two percent chlordane is effective. See individual product labels for usage and precautions.

For further information, request publication 245, "Control Household Insects," from your local Cooperative Extension Service office.

Farm income

CASH RECEIPTS

Mississippi's total cash receipts from farming in 1977 totaled $1,713,738,000, the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service announced. This was an increase of less than one percent from the 1976 total of $1,707,421,000. Cash receipts from livestock and livestock products totaled $795,394,000 or 46.4 percent of all commodities in 1977 and crops accounted for the remaining 53.6 percent or $918,342,000.

Mississippi, in cash receipts ranks third for cotton, fifth in broilers, fifth in rice, eighth in soybeans, tenth in peanuts, eleventh in eggs, and twenty-first in cattle and calves.

Mississippi ranks twenty-second in cash receipts from livestock and livestock products and nineteenth in cash receipts from crops. In total cash receipts from farming, Mississippi ranks twenty-second in the nation.

Weekly Broilers

BROILER-TYPE

Hatcheries in the State set 4,795,000 eggs for broiler chicks during the week ending October 14, 1978, 21 percent below the previous week but 10 percent above the 4,340,000 set the corresponding week a year ago.

There were 5,231,000 broiler chicks placed on Mississippi farms during the week ending October 14, 1978, seven percent above the previous week and two percent above the 5,135,000 placed the corresponding week a year ago.

Cumulative placements for 1978 are 227,145,000 broiler chicks - five percent above a year earlier.

EGG-TYPE

Hatcheries in the State set 307,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending October 14, 1978, one percent above the previous week but 10 percent below the 342,000 set during the comparable week a year ago. Hatch of egg-type chicks was 213,000, 12 percent below the previous week but 40 percent above the 152,000 hatched during the comparable week a year ago.

In the five states that accounted for about 25 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1977, settings during the week ending October 14, 1978 were up 22 percent and hatchings were up four percent from a year ago.

White Cypress by Yvonne Ladner

With the opening of squirrel season Saturday, many men and boys will be in the woods this weekend and for the coming weeks.

A group of men and boys from this area who camp every year on this occasion are making plans now and will be hunting the whole weekend. We will have some results of the hunt next week.

Dwayne Cuevas, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cuevas, celebrated his birthday on Friday, Oct. 20 with the family and friends.

Happy birthday wishes are extended to my son-in-law, Louis Breau IV and also to Elbert Cuevas.

The Ladies Altar Sodality of Infant Jesus of Prague Church of White Cypress met on Tuesday, Oct. 24, at the Church Complex. Plans were discussed for Christmas decorations and for entertainment for the coming Holiday Season.

The children of the religious classes of the church will be putting on the Christmas Story play for everyone. The next meeting will be held at the Complex on Nov. 28 at 7 p.m. All members are urged to be present so that plans may be completed for the Christmas party and decorations.

An appreciation dinner was held for the workers for the Gumbo Festival. There were between 150 and 200 people present. They were served shrimp creole, shrimp salad, chicken gumbo and other foods.

DANCE LESSONS
Square Dance lessons were begun on Wednesday night of this past week. Next Wednesday night, November 1 the second session will be held at 7:30 p.m.

If anyone is interested they are asked to please attend this session because after that it will be too late to start. The lessons will continue each Wednesday night until completion of the course.

Carl Wamsley of Picayune is the teacher. The classes are open for adults and for any teens from 12 years old and up. If anyone has any questions about the classes please call Melvin Ladner at 255-1403.

LADIES CURSILLO
Attending the Ladies Cursillo held at Dedeaux last weekend was Lynell Ladner of Crane Creek. Also Yvonne Ladner worked as a lay-leader for the Cursillo.

Religious classes for grades kindergarten through sixth continue to be held each Sunday after 9:30 Mass. Class for high school students are held on alternate Sundays at 6 p.m.

The class for those who will be confirming this coming Spring are held each Sunday at 6 p.m. CYO meetings are held after these classes.

The new Victory Baptist Church is getting nearer to its completion with the bricking of the exterior started recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cuevas are the parents of a new baby daughter. She was born Oct. 13 in the Lucius Olen Crosby Memorial Hospital in Picayune. She weighed seven pounds and 9.5 ounces and has been named Nicole Denise.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

WEATHER SUMMARY

(National Weather Service) A few showers occurred on the evening of the 18th and 14th. Most locations received less than one quarter inch. However, several locations recorded more than an inch with 1.92 inches at University the wettest location.

The remainder of the week was dry with low humidities. Average temperatures were below normal for the week with reports of frost at some locations in the north and central. Averages ranged from 51 at Holly Springs and University to 65 at Poplarville.

Overall temperatures were three to 11 degrees below normal. Friday through Monday was dry and mild.

CROP SUMMARY: Harvest of most field crops was well ahead of the ten-year average as the ideal weather conditions for harvest continued. However, planting of winter grazing crops was lagging behind due to the dry weather and these crops will be late. Many producers are waiting for rain before planting.

Soil moisture supplies were short to very short. An average of 6.2 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 5.8 days last week and six days for the same week last year.

The soybean acreage was 99 percent shedding compared to 96 percent last year and 79 percent mature compared to 73 percent last year and the average of 55 percent. About 41 percent of the acreage was harvested, equal to last year's progress and well ahead of the average of 29 percent. The crop was in fair to good condition.

The cotton harvest was 76 percent completed, ahead of both last year's 70 percent and the average of only 39 percent. The crop was in fair condition.

Rice harvest was 98 percent completed compared to 90 percent last year and the average of 81 percent.

Corn was 81 percent harvested compared to last year's 82 percent and the average of 61 percent.

Winter wheat planting was slowed due to the lack of soil moisture and was only 53 percent completed compared to 64 percent last year and the average of 62 percent.

Hay crops were 96 percent harvested compared to 93 percent for both last year and the average.

Peanuts were 94 percent harvested compared to last year's 94 percent and the average of 88 percent.

Sweetpotato harvest was 77 percent completed compared to 74 percent last year and 72 percent for the average.

Pecans were in poor to fair condition and were only seven percent harvested compared to last year's 20 percent.

Pastures were in fair to poor condition.

Twenty six persons passed the October Mississippi real estate broker's examination and are eligible to practice in the real estate profession as brokers, according to a report from J. Daniel Schroeder, administrator of the State Real Estate Commission.

The new real estate brokers include Mrs. Janice L. Parker of Bay St. Louis.

The 26 successful candidates were among 47 applicants who took the examination.

Also, there were 122 persons who passed the real estate salesman's examination. The new real estate salesmen included: Mrs. Yvonne L. Ladner, Bay St. Louis.

The 122 successful salesmen candidates were among 183 applicants who took the examination.

Carrier recalls ac units

Carrier Corporation, Syracuse, N.Y., in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), reports it is voluntarily recalling two models of room air conditioners produced between 1982 and 1984.

The company said engineering tests on several of the 14 to 36-year-old units has revealed the deterioration of a terminal board insulator which could cause an electrical short that might ignite adjacent combustible material.

Three fires last May involving these unit models in an apartment complex in Anaheim, Calif., were reported by the company to CPSC. There were no reported injuries related to those fires.

The product involved is a 6,000 BTU air conditioner sold under the Carrier "Weathermaker" brand name and identified by the model number 51GA0661 or 51GB0661. The model number will be found on a metallic plate behind the unit's decorative front grille, which can be snapped out easily.

The units generally would be used to cool a single small room, such as a bedroom, and, in most instances, would be installed in a window. The units are about 16 1/2 inches high, 22 inches wide, 11 1/4 inches deep and weigh 100 pounds. They were sold throughout the continental U.S. during the years 1982-85 at a retail price of $185 to $210.

Carrier said the company had produced a total of 21,591 such units that they are now well beyond their normally expected product life, and that age, moisture and heat contributed to the deterioration of the electrical terminal board. The company estimates that as many as 2,782 units or as few as 628 might still be in service.

Consumers having units as identified for the recall are urged to disconnect the air conditioner from the electrical outlet and to cease using it immediately. They should telephone their nearest Carrier room air conditioning dealer, as listed in the Yellow Pages Directory. Units will be repaired at no cost to the consumers.

Consumers who require additional information should write to Carrier Air Conditioning, Carrier Parkway, Syracuse, N.Y. 13221 or phone the company's Consumer Relations Department at 315-432-7651.

To verify brand names and model numbers, consumers may contact CPSC's toll-free Hotline at 800-638-2688.

The number also serves deal persons with TTYs.

Rebel aeriels shatter Hawk's flight

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hancock North Central Hawks were defeated by the Notre Dame Rebels 28-25 in Hawk stadium Friday. North Central had a string of 19 regular season wins and were trying for number 20 when the Rebels surprised the Hawks with an improved team. North Central head coach Irvin Favre said, "We played a good game, we got beat fair and square. It is hard to win when your opponents score 21 points in the first quarter. We lost the game because of two missed assignments made by experienced men."

Favre was talking about the final drive for the winning touchdown by Notre Dame. Notre Dame was on their own 29 yard line when quarterback Greg Breal hit Larry Cross with a 68 yard pass run play to the Hawks three yard line. Cross was wide open on the play and that was one of the missed assignments he was speaking about.

It took the Rebels four plays to reach paydirt as the Hawk defense tightened up. On first and goal the Rebels were driven to the seven, next play a two yard gain, the third try good for two yards. Then Breal hit Neil Broussard with a high pass in the end zone giving the Rebels a 28-25 edge with only 1:09 left in the contest.

The first quarter was almost all Rebels as they scored on the first possession. It took Notre Dame only six plays after receiving the kick-off to score when Breal hit Larry Cross for a TD with 2:30 of play giving the Rebels a 7-0 lead. The Hawks came back and put a sustained drive of 11 plays with quarterback Vincent Adams scoring on a five yard keeper. The PAT was wide giving the Rebels a 7-6 edge with 4:58 left in the first quarter.

Notre Dame came right back and scored in only four plays when Breal hit Tommy Mann with 34 yard score giving the Rebels a 14-6 edge with 3:39 left in the first quarter. The Hawks received the kick-off and on their third play were intercepted by the Rebels' Mann getting good field position on the Hawks' 20. On the second play Breal hit Randy Sentell for a 13 yard score giving the Rebels a 21-6 lead with still 1:10 left in the first quarter.

The second quarter saw a defensive struggle with the Hawks scoring with 5:53 left in the first half. Greg Ladner climaxed a 54 yard drive with an eight yard score. The try for the extra point by Jesse Drainie was good giving the Rebels a 21-13 lead. Notre Dame didn't register a first down in the second quarter.

The Hawks scored late in the third quarter when Byron Ladner made a spectacular catch of an Adams pass at the goal line. The Hawks went for two on the PAT and missed giving the Rebels a 21-19 lead with 2:26 left in the third quarter.

The Hawks went ahead in early fourth quarter play when Bryon Ladner made another spectacular catch of an Adams pass for a 24 yard gain on the Rebels eight. Greg Ladner ramblled in on the next play for his second score of the night. The point after was missed and the Hawks had a 25-21 lead with only 9:04 left in the game.

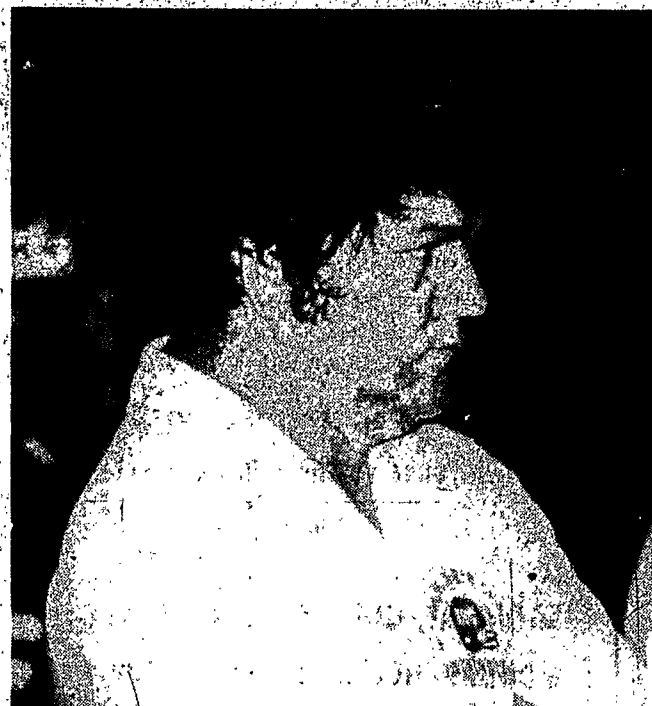

It was after several exchanges when the Rebels pulled the game out on the long pass play which set up the winning score for Notre Dame. Greg Ladner of the Hawks moved past the 1000 yard mark in the third quarter of the game giving him a little over 100 yards per game for the season. The Hawks had the edge in first downs 17 to the Rebels 9. The Hawks were hard to run against and the Rebels did most of their damage with passes.

Coach Favre said, "I'm disappointed with the loss, but we will be back. It is hard when you have a winning streak, we should have won, but we lost the game. Notre Dame is a much improved team from the beginning of the season." The Hawks now 8-1 will visit neighbors Poplarville next Friday.

COACH'S EXPRESSION TELLS THE STORY-Head coach Irvin Favre shows concern with his team trailing the Notre Dame Rebels 21-6 at the end of the first quarter Friday. The 21 points scored by the Rebels in the first quarter are the most points any team has scored against the Hawks in a full game this season. The Rebel lead was overcome by the Hawks who let victory slip from their hands by an missed assignment in the closing minutes of the contest. It was the first defeat in regular season play for the Hawks after winning 19 in a row. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder).

Jr. Tigers clout Rocks

Bay St. Louis Junior High clobbered the St. Stanislaus Junior Rocks last week in a 40-0 shutout.

Donald Carver scored three times for the Tigers and David Gillum scored twice during the Bay Junior High victory.

Carver led off his scoring night with a 70 yard touchdown in the first quarter on a handoff from quarterback Donald Acker.

Carver scored again in the first stanza on a 40 yard romp downfield, making the score 12-0. Both first quarter PATs were missed.

In the second quarter, Gillum took a handoff from Acker and ran 50 yards for a score.

Gillum took a handoff from Keith Johnson and romped 15 yards to paydirt to add to the Tiger tally in the second quarter, making the score 24-0.

In the third quarter Van

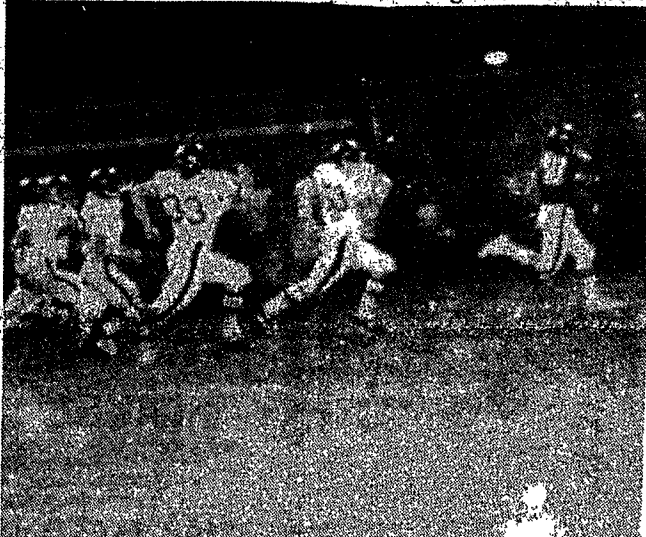

Fayard pulled in an Acker aerial for a 25 yard score, and Michael Lewis ran in a two-point conversion.

Carver scored again in the fourth period, this time a 15 yard touchdown following an Acker handoff. Lewis went in for another two point conversion to make the final score 40-0.

Fayard, Carver, Gillum Acker, Johnson, Kenny Benigno, Jimmy Sones, Charlie Stewart, Mitch Hardie, Mark Fousanon, Curtis Thomas, Dennis Rhodes, and Ron Carter were cited for outstanding play.

The Tigers will participate in the conference title playoff at St. Martin in Gulfport Thursday, November 9 at 7 p.m.

Tiger head coach Cleveland Williams urges all supporters of the Tiger's Junior High squad to come out to St. Martins and boost the team.

PIRATE SCORE-Virgil Swanier, No. 10 for Pass Christian, runs toward the end zone followed by a slew of Rock-A-Chaws for a 69 yard Pirate score to set the Pass crew on top 6-0. The following Rocks include No. 53, Jamie McKeough, and No. 33, Randy Santa Cruz. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Lang, Swanier each score twice

Pirates sock Rocks with rebuilt defense

By RICH ADAMS
The Pass Christian Pirates soundly trounced the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 32-14 in an exciting cross-county rivalry Friday night, the win mainly attributed to a realigned Pirate defense.

Pass quarterback Virgil Swanier and runningback Gene Lang scored two times each in the win, and the new Pirate defense held the Rocks to 175 yards offense compared to the 229 accumulated by the Pirates.

"The win has a lot to do with the new defense. It was mainly a realignment of power with a few new additions," said Pirate head coach Bob Lumpkin.

"We can score if we get the ball," he added.

Coach Poole has a fine football team that really gave us a good fight. St. Stanislaus never gave up...they kept on to the end," Lumpkin said.

Rock head coach Bill Poole, whose squad now holds a 5-3 record for the season following the loss.

"They beat us. They just beat us. They outplayed our fannies," said coach Poole.

Pirate quarterback Virgil Swanier took the third play from scrimmage 69 yards on a quarterback option to score over the left side of the line with 8:10 remaining in the first quarter.

A host of Rock-A-Chaw would-be tacklers trailed him into the end zone after the long run.

Pat Barnes' conversion was good, giving the Pass squad a 7-0 lead early in the game.

The Rocks couldn't move the ball on the next series and had to punt in their own territory.

The Pirates took the ball to the Rock 43 yard line, but intentional grounding was called as Swanier attempted to throw the ball under heavy pressure from the Rock defense, and the Pirates punted.

On the next series for the Pirates, a fourth-and-four situation, Barnes dropped back to punt, but changed his mind and ran 20 yards for the first down on the Rock 31 yard line.

Two plays later, with 11:09 remaining in the half, Gene Lang romped 31 yards into the end zone.

Barnes' PAT attempt was wide, and the Pirates led 13-0. The Rocks took the ball and recorded a first down, their first of the game, with 4:56 left in the second stanza. The Stanislaus crew took the ball to the Pirate's 15 yard line, and quarterback Peter Bernheim failed to hit any receivers on a fourth-and-thirteen situation.

The ball went back to the Pirates, and the half ran out. Pass Christian dominated the first six minutes of the third period, moving the ball 64 yards in 13 plays culminating in another Lang score from two yards out.

Barnes' conversion was good, making the score 20-0. The Pass Christian eleven scored again slightly more than one minute later, when a Rock runner fumbled the ball deep in Rock territory and Robert Bailey scooped the ball up and ran it 25 yards for a score.

The score came with 4:26 remaining in the third quarter, and Barnes' PAT was unsuccessful. St. Stanislaus fired up and scored on the next series of play, moving the ball 70 yards and scoring on the eighth play of the series, Scott Senner diving in from the two yard line with 19 seconds remaining in the third period.

The score was set up by a Bernheim pass to end Fred Keel, good for 40 yards. The conversion by Charles Armato was good, and the score stood 26-7. The Rocks scored again mid-way through the fourth period, Keith Pfister carrying the ball in from the four with 6:55 remaining in the game. Armato's extra point was good, and the score was 26-14. Pass Christian gambled a few times on the next series of downs, and scored on a Swanier run from four yards out.

The Pirates were fourth-and-two on the Rock 38, and an offside call against the Rocks put the ball first-and-ten on the 33.

The Pass squad took another chance with a fourth-and-one on the nine yard line, but Swanier gained the needed yard and set up the score, which came with 27 seconds remaining in the game.

The point after was no good, and the final score was 32-14. The Pirates accumulated 10 first downs, compared to St. Stanislaus' 11.

The Rocks ran for 119 yards and went to the air for 56, while the Pass Christian crew picked up 216 on the ground and passed for 13.

Pass hosts Long Beach next week at Pirate Stadium, gametime at 7:30 p.m.

The Rocks travel to East Central next Friday night to try to up their record to 6-3.

CAJUN COOKING

The Cajun cook of the airways imparts his recipe secrets and south Louisiana wit at 7 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, beginning November 6, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

News Brief

"Cookin' Cajun" with Justin Wilson will continue in this schedule through the month of December. The first series, produced in the early seventies, will be broadcast first, immediately followed by his second series, produced in 1977.

In each program, Wilson prepares two or three of his Cajun specialties before a studio audience. The fare includes barbecued crabs, steak étouffé, rice salad and copper pennies.

RESCUED-Pirate head coach Bob Lumpkin scoops up his daughter, Elizabeth, after she ran across the football field during play Friday. Elizabeth, a member of the Pass cheerleading squad, had been standing on the St. Stanislaus side of the field, and stopped play momentarily as she tore across the field. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

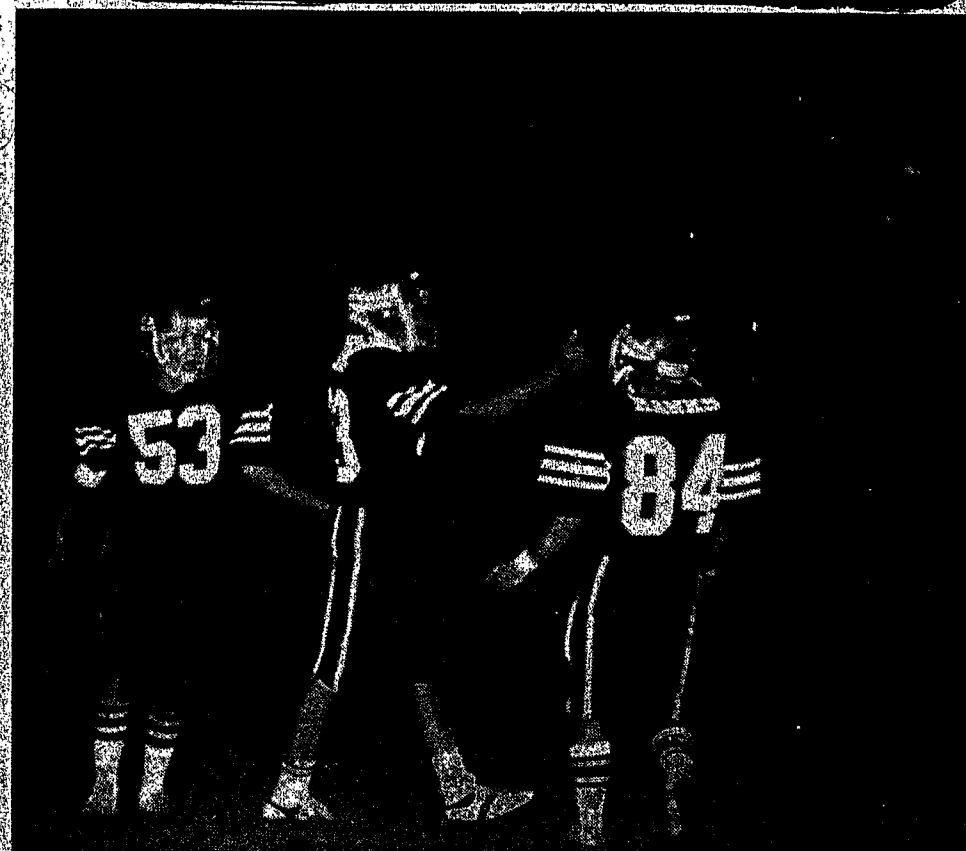

NAME THAT FLY

Who would guess that Lady Godiva and the Strawberry Blond have something in common with the Zug Bug?

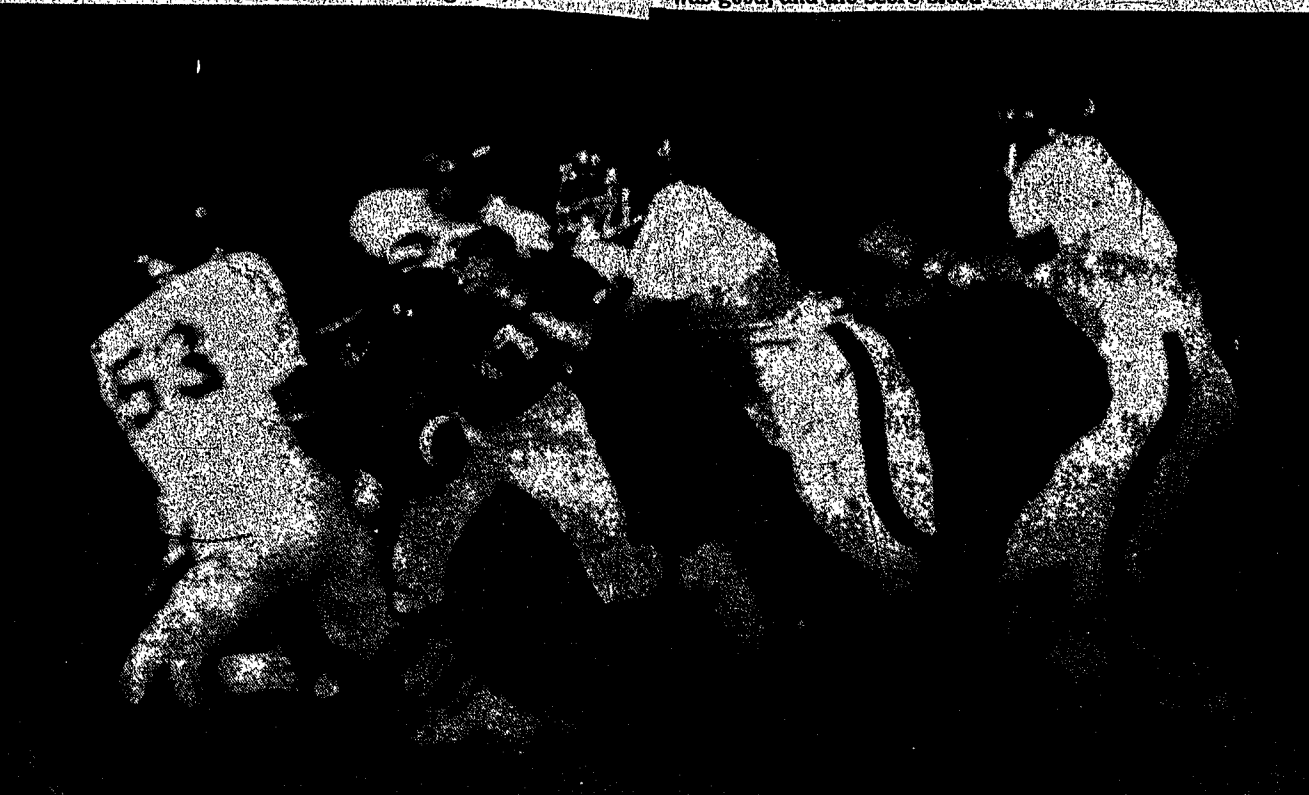

Or that they're similar to the Pink Lady, Rat Faced McDougal and Wolly Worm?

All these colorful names belong to fishing flies, those innocent-looking pieces of feather, chenille, tinsel and yarn used to lure and fool fish.

Casting artificial flies to catch fish is a method that dates back many centuries, according to information researched by Mercury outdoors fishing department.

GREG LADNER SCORES-Greg Ladner, center, throws football to official after scoring touchdown against Notre Dame Friday. Ladner's rushing yardage passed the 1000 mark for the season even though the Hawks lost to Notre Dame 28-25. John Hamilton, No. 53, and David Clark, No. 84, helped lead the way in for Ladner. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

SACKED-Virgil Swanier, No. 10, is pulled down by Rock defenders for a loss in action at Pass Christian Friday night. The Pirates came away victorious over St. Stanislaus, 32-14. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

S. Grady Thigpen recalls:

Community tensions released in 1918 Armistice Day march

There was a spontaneous parade and victory celebration in Picayune when the Armistice was announced on November 11, 1918. Never before or after have I seen anything in any way comparable to what took place that cloudy November morning.

No one, so far as I can remember, had anticipated an end to the war at that time.

The people had not been prepared for such news, nothing in the papers had indicated that the war was coming to an end.

When the armistice was announced about 10 a.m. on that never-to-be-forgotten day the pent up emotions of the people exploded like an atomic bomb.

As the telegraph operator at the depot heard the news over the wires he shouted it to those around him.

Immediately phones began to ring, men in the depot rushed out to shout the good tidings to all within hearing distance.

The phone operators told the good news to every person who put in a call. Those who heard it relayed the glad news to all within their hearing distance so that within minutes the whole town knew what had happened.

At the Crosby and Rowland sawmill located in Picayune Veneer Co. and where I worked in the office, the news spread all over the big plant almost instantaneously, much as if a big radio loud speaker had blared it forth so that all could hear.

Without exception, everyone, from the boss on down, as if instinctively impelled by some unseen force, dropped what he was doing and ran out into the open.

Those in the office rushed out but as I got to the door I thought of the money in my cash drawer and ran back to grab it all, put it into the vault and lock the door.

When I got back outside just a few minutes later just about everyone of the over 300 people working there were, as if led by some mysterious compulsion, joining in a wholly impromptu parade of joyful shouting people.

No orders had been given by anyone, no boss had ordered a work stoppage - it was all wholly spontaneous, unplanned.

Where it all came from I do not know but soon there were pangs being beaten to make noise, there were cow bells ringing, shotguns shooting, pistols popping, all to the accompaniment of the over and over repeated shout of "The War is Over."

On that historic day the dirt streets of Picayune were dry.

As the hundreds marched towards the business section of the little town great clouds of dust arose.

As the mill crew marched the people along the way joined in. Carpenters got off a roof on which they were working and joined the marching, shouting people. A man plowing in a garden along the way left his horse harnessed to the plow to take part, two ditch diggers threw down their spades and marched with the others, stores along the way closed and those working in them joined in.

About the time the parade got to the railway crossing the school children, who had come from school joined in. The more people joined the parade the more dust was raised from the dry, dusty dirt streets. The parade slowly proceeded one block out on East Canal Street, turned south one block, then back over to what is now Highway 11. The now thoroughly dusty and ever growing multitude went slowly on up towards the upper crossing, still shouting "The War is Over."

By the time they reached the corner of West Canal and Main there were signs of tiring and that the pent up emotions had been spent.

The marchers began to drop out. The school children returned to school. When the street into the sawmill was reached about the only ones left were the sawmill people.

Mr. Crosby and Mr. Rowland made short talks, told everyone to go home and take the day off with full pay. That briefly describes what happened in Picayune when the war ended in 1918.

When started in Europe in 1914 Americans at first had a more or less detached interest in it, much as we now read about the troubles in the Middle or Far East.

It was too far away to interest us. Then American cargo ships were sunk by the Germans with great loss of American lives and valuable cargoes. This malicious killing of American citizens and destruction of property brought mounting anger to the people of this country.

When German submarines sank an American passenger ship, carrying no war materials, off the coast of Ireland with a loss of about 1400 lives, a wave of indignation swept over the nation - this was a slap in the face and a challenge to the United States.

From the beginning the sympathies of the big majority of the people of this country were with England and France. In addition to this natural sympathy, practically all the news we got came from those two countries and was, of course, slanted to their advantage and to their purpose of getting the help of the United States in their fight against Germany.

When the war started in 1914 no one had any idea that America would be drawn into the conflict but after two years of intense propaganda directed towards this country and in the face of willful murder of American citizens and wanton destruction of property, there was widespread and mounting demand that the United States enter the war.

So successful was this propaganda, heated up with German disregard of American rights, that the United States declared war April 6, 1917.

By that time the Americans were not only ready and willing to fight in what was called "the war to end war" but they were demanding war.

To show how unanimous was the sentiment for war 90 out of 96 United States Senators voted for the declaration of war.

Even after all the propaganda and the demand for war there was a sense of shock throughout the country when war was declared. Fuller realization of what it meant came when Congress passed the draft act and dates were set for registration of all men within the draft age.

Most of the men working at the sawmill, where I worked, were subject to the draft.

The machinery for the draft was set up and the registration day fixed. The full seriousness of the war was brought home to the men when they were ordered to register - the war had by then gotten to the point where they were directly affected.

I was selected by the mill management for the job of helping the men fill out their registration blanks, a job which took many days as these forms were long and, to an inexperienced person, had to be understood. There were a number of surprises.

The first day a negro at the mill, with a good job and a key man in the operation of the mill and a man with a big family, called me off to one side to talk privately before starting on his resignation.

Though he had a family of eight children, he told me that he and the woman he lived with were not married and that he wanted me to call the circuit clerk at Poplarville for a marriage license to come down that evening on train No. 43 so that he would get married that night and then register the next day as a married man with a family. He thought, and correctly so, that if he showed up as a single man he would probably be drafted immediately. I called the circuit clerk for the marriage license. It was put in my box at the post office about 6:30 p.m. Another man and myself carried the license to this man's home. He had a preacher on hand.

Without any further waiting and with their eight children sitting in wide-eyed wonder at what was going on, this couple were married.

As a sidelight to this story, some two or three years later this same man came to see me and asked who would be a good lawyer to get him a divorce. In great surprise I asked what had happened.

He said, "I got along fine with that woman until I married her. Since then she has gotten so independent I can't get along with her."

That was not the only case of this kind and colored people were not the only ones involved. At least one white couple with children rushed in to get a marriage license in a hurry while the registration was going on. As I remember it, common law marriages were recognized as grounds for deferment from the draft where there were children involved.

As the war went on, men in the draft were regularly called into the army. A man would be working in the mill one day - then the next day he would be gone to Camp Shelby. Before many months had passed the names of these men began to appear in the casualty lists.

With their own folks in the war, people became intensely interested in all news about it. Back then there were no radios or television - only the newspapers to supply the news.

There was great hunger for news about the war. The war was almost the sole topic of conversation in those days. Hatred of everything German was so intensified that good citizens of German descent in this country were in many cases insulted and maligned.

A man lived here in Picayune who had come from Germany many years before. He had been a good citizen all those years but because of propaganda and the hate that had been built up against Germans a man in business in Picayune ordered this old man out of his place of business and asked him to never come in there again. He later apologized for his action and the two became good friends again.

German submarines began sinking ships right up to the shores of the United States. There began to be fears that the war would spread to this country. There was dread of what might happen, there was acute anxiety for sons, husbands, brothers in the Army.

The papers carried daily accounts of battles, German atrocities and sinking of ships until the emotions of the people were built up to a peak of intensity. It was the release from this terrible tension and anxiety that triggered the outburst of emotion that resulted in the surprising parade on Armistice Day in 1918.

Questionnaire included with VA pension checks

"Elderly veterans and children of deceased wartime veterans should not be alarmed at receiving annual income questionnaires with the November pension payment," said Eric Sandstrom, national commander-in-chief of the VFW.

"The VA is requiring about a million and a half pension recipients to fill out the questionnaires because information is necessary due to the passage of a revised pension program," he said.

Veterans 72 years of age and over, and children do not usually have to complete the AIQ, but will receive one in the November check envelope. The VA points out that the AIQ must be filled out and returned by January, 1979 to prevent loss of pension payments. All those needing help should contact John Wilkerson, Hancock County Service Officer at the Youth Court Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Brutus Bilbo are shown accepting delivery of their new 1978 Black Chevy Impala from Turan-Lane Chevrolet Salesman Don Cooper.

"My wife has always wanted a four door black car. We stopped the Picayune area and decided to go to Bay St. Louis where we purchased our last new car, a 1970 Chevy Impala. We were greeted by salesman Don Cooper, and told him what we were looking for in a new car. Turan-Lane had a black 1978 Impala in stock and Don Cooper worked us up a deal, we paid cash and drove our new car home. We thank Don Cooper and Turan-Lane for such friendly service."

The Ole Pastor Says

Have you "QUIT" church? How easy it is to quit! It requires no intelligence, no courage, no patience, no energy. But it takes character of high quality to face up to the forces of evil, lust, compromise, lethargy, and the hosts of enemies that oppose righteousness.

But it is so easy to quit. I am glad that God has had some people in every generation who were not quitters. How true is the saying: "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits." Quitters in the Lord's service find abundant excuse - never any real honest reasons - to satisfy their lazy conscience.

How would it affect your indignation though for the fireman to walk away from your burning house? the doctor to leave the surgery room while your loved one flirts with death? or the life guard to excuse himself while someone drowns?

Duty and reason govern others, but church "quitters" do so without suffering the conscience of a turncoat soldier, or an athlete who walks out in the heat of competition. Neglected worship, shunned duty, abused talents, misused money that belongs to God, lack of concern for lost souls, missions, needs, and misguided influence does not go unseen by the almighty God of heaven and earth.

Judgement may tarry but it is certainly never escaped. God grant us real men and women of spiritual conviction and moral backbone with courage and grit to stand up for Christ in these awful days.

Are you a quitter? Do you want your children to pattern after you? In humble love and concern we submit this for your prayerful consideration - if you are a "quitter."

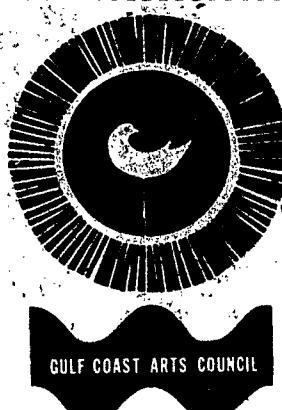

COUNTRY CAJUNS - Country-rock fiddler Doug Kershaw and Bessy Duhon, accordion player for the Jimmy C. Newman band, are among performers in "Country Cajun" to be broadcast at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 7, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY
An ETV documentary at 9 p.m., Saturday, November 4, provides an in-depth look at the environmental and psychological conditions that contribute to juvenile delinquency. "Bad Boys" is divided into three segments:

a New York City high school; Spofford Detention Center (a controversial detention facility in New York's Bronx for juvenile criminals awaiting trial and sentencing); and an upstate New York maximum security prison for juveniles.

THE GOOD DOCTOR - Richard Chamberlain star in a new television adaptation of Neil Simon's Broadway play, "The Good Doctor," to be presented on "Great Performances" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 8, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

OVEREASY GUESTS
Guests of Hugh Downs on public television's "Over Easy" November 2-8 are as follows:

Thursday, November 2: Dina Merrill
Friday, November 3: Ink Spots
Monday, November 6: Julia Child
Tuesday, November 7: Isaac Stern
Wednesday, November 8: Soupy Sales
"Over Easy" can be seen weekdays at 6 p.m., on the Mississippi ETV Network (channels 19, Biloxi; 12, Booneville; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 28, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 2, Mississippi State; and 18, Oxford-University).

ELECTIONS '78
Political trends across the nation are summarized in a special ETV program.

"Elections '78: Prelude to '80," at 7 p.m., Sunday, November 5, on the Mississippi ETV Network. The program will present an overview of major elections and their impact on such key issues as inflation, defense and taxes. Other political issues and personalities to be discussed on the November 5 telecast include the positions and anticipated voting strength of minorities throughout the nation and the political aspirations of Sen. Ted Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Sen. Bob Dole (R-Kan.). Serving as "correspondents for the program are Marilyn Berger, former NBC White House correspondent; Kevin Phillips, syndicated political columnist and author; and Ken Bode, political editor of The New Republic.
